DOGWOOD Other Ornamental Trees

Cornus Florida Rubra (Pink Flowering Dogwood) -- This is a well shaped tree which has beautiful, single, deep pink flowers in early spring. In the fall, it has bright red berries and the dense foliage turns scarlet. The horizontal branching makes a picturesque winter scene.

Prunus Newport -- This handsome semi-dwarf ornamental tree has pink flowers in the spring followed by bright, bronzy red leaves and the fruit is small and red.

Prunus Pissardi -- This tree has distinctive, purple-red foliage and grows rather erectly in fan-like form to 20 or 25 feet, with a spread of 15 to 20 feet. It has many little, single, pinkish-white flowers against the dark red of the opening leaf buds each spring and will grow in almost any soil.

Prunus Thundercloud -- This small tree reaches a height and spread of about 25 feet at a medium rate of growth. It bears pink flowers in the spring and the leaves are a rich red gradually turning darker red.
